OFFICE OF PUBLICATION—Corner Austin and Vale Sts., Jefferson, Texas.

The equinoctial weather has set in and we hope for a cooler spell.

The past week has been unusually hot for September.

Chicago has built a pneumatic tube to Milwaukee. Perhaps some air will get in it, but tubes are adopted to the conveyance of other fluids.

Ira O. Wyse, a leading citizen of Greenville, died at Delafield, Wis., where he had gone for his health.

The remains were brought back to Greenville for burial.

An unusual pictorial feature in the October Woman's Home Companion is a double page giving four unusual unpublished portraits of the Presidential candidates, showing Roosevelt and Parker in youth and at the present time.

The profession of forestry is taking its place by the side of the side of the other learned professions. No less than sixty students have entered Yale university to study trees, how to plant and grow them, and how to extinguish forest fires.

Inspired by the selection of Swallow as the Prohibition candidate for President, and the acceptance of a nomination to Congress in Texas by Drinkard, Mr. Cheaty Gullet is running for the Legislature in Illinois. Where is Carrie Nation?

We have received a copy of the M. K. & T. railway company's report for 1904. It is shown that the company is free from floating debt, and that in the earnings there is shown a decrease both in gross and net receipts per mile, to and increase in mileage.

The JIMP. man had business Monday that took him to Shreveport, and then on to Vivian and Rodessa. At the latter place we met A. C. Pitts, J. W. Zylks and the Slaughter Bros. and had the pleasure of eating a fine fish dinner with Mr. Hen Slaughter.

Returning on the local freight by Vivian we stopped some ten minutes and met Rives Browning, Dr. Hartzo and others. We saw the site where they are boring for oil one mile from Annanias, called Caddo City. There seemed to be considerable stir and life, while numerous tents and several buildings make it look like a little town. They have one derrick up and three more soon will be. No oil has yet been found but there are good indications. B. F. Rogers mill at Lewis, three miles from oil site, is sawing lumber for the derricks.

Interesting, unusual and up-to-date is the October Woman's Home Companion. It opens with a striking article on the submarine boat, by Morgan Robertson.

David Belasco, the great playwright and stage-manager, gives advice to girls who want to go on the stage. A particularly timely article is Lee Fairchild's description of "The Funny Side of a Political Campaign." Other features are "Mrs. Edison's Halloween," "Corn is Still King in Kansas," and "Mrs. Sangster's Chat with Women at Home." This number is especially notable for its fashions, there being several pages of the latest designs for autumn frocks and waists. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The "World's Fair Extra" of the Farm and Ranch is a number worth preserving for future reference. It speaks well for Texas and her fruit and truck growing sections.

Encounter with a Federal Gunboat "Queen of the West." in Atchafalaya River.

In December 1862 while assistant Commissary, at Fort Butte-Rose, we had two side wheel boats in use by signal corps, and the commissary department. On one occasion I went up to Simsport to get some rations for the troops, and while at Simsport the "Queen of the West" had gotten into Red River and came down the Atchafalaya River, and landed and burned up Sim's Plantation, about three miles above Simsport.

There was no time to lose, as we had Gen. Sibley's Brigade ammunition, and at the river at Simsport was Valverde's Battery's commanded by Gov. J. D. Sayers, which had all their ammunition that we took aboard and also 80 barrels of salt beef. I saw the "Queen of the West" with steam up coming down the river. I was piloting the boat and Alf Millout was engineer, who was afterwards engineer of Mechanics Fire Co. No. 1. at Jefferson. We started down the river with the "Queen of the West" after us. our boat the Minerva drawing but four feet of water, while the "Queen of the West" drawing eleven or twelve feet, and had to follow the deep channel, while I with the small boat made all short points and bends; sometimes the limbs and trees struck the pilot house causing us much anxiety, thinking they were shells of the Federal Gun Boat, which had been shooting at us for sometime. Had one of the shells from their Gun Boat struck the stern of the Minerva among our ammunition there would have been no one left to tell the tale.

Capt. Chas. Hardingburg, Commissary of Ft. Butte-Rose asked me to land the Boat and blow her up, but I refused to do so, having no fuse, and being anxious to save our ammunition. One thing that saved us was that our Cavalry was left behind at Simsport where they took a stand in the swamps, and the sharp-shooters among them killed about fifteen men on the "Queen of the West" and so enraged them as to cause them to abandon their chase after us and stop and shell the woods.

They afterwards turned back into Red River, while I run down the mouth of Bayou Catabre and to Washington, La. While at Bayou Catabre we unloaded the ammunition and beef. I met the boats that took the troops, wagons and cavalry.

I think Mr. T. N. Lockett of this city belonged to Tom Green's Cavalry while at that place. Gen. Dick Taylor was aboard the steamer B. L. Hodge, and hailed me to report at headquarters, but I sent Capt. Hardingburg in my stead to tell him what we had aboard our boat. Our boats were side by side, and I overheard the conversation between them. Capt. Hardingburg told him that he had asked me to land the boat and blow her up. Pointing to me Gen. Dick Taylor shook his hand and said he was going to have me court martialed, to which I replied that I could stand it. About three months afterwards I met Gen. Taylor on Bayou Tache below New Iberia. I thought he had forgotten all about threatening to have me court martialed, but he had not and asked me what my defense would be or would have been, to which I replied I was in charge of the boat and again I had no fuse with which to blow her up, and I also thought he should thank me for saving the ammunition. His reply was your defense is well taken. Afterwards the Queen of the West returned and went up Red River and captured the Era No 5 of the Kounz line upon which was one of our most popular Pilots plying between New Orleans and Jefferson, Mr. Harry Atkinson. They took him up to the Pilot House and with a squad of soldiers around him made him steer the boat further up Red River. When they got to Ft. DeRussey a shot from one of our seige guns cut a steam pipe and disabled her, and we captured her and took her to Alexandria where she was repaired and we afterwards had her sunk in a fight in grand Lake with the Federal Gunboats. Yours truly,

JOHN A. FIEDLER.

Superintendent Public Works Of Lexington, Ky., Says: "Peruna is an Excellent Medicine."

J. H. HIPPLEGATE.

J. H. Hipplegate, Supt. of Public Works, 61 West 6th St., Lexington, Ky., writes:

"I find that Peruna is an excellent medicine especially for catarrhal affections and all diseases leading to consumption, bronchial troubles or stomach troubles. It also acts as a preventive and keeps the system in a healthy condition so that it easily throws off disease. It is an excellent tonic and a great appetizer and as a large number of those who have been using it speak very highly of its curative powers, I am satisfied that my opinion of it is correct, and that it is deserving of high praise."

—J. H. Hipplegate.

Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by hearsay and thousands know it by experience.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages. There is no remedy that can be substituted.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
